

U.S. ABANDONS 'HANDS-OFF' GENEVA POLICY

IT'S OZARK TOUR TIME AGAIN—The 24th annual Ozark tour, scheduled for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, will again bring together a group similar to the one pictured above on last year's tour. The group is seen resting after picnic dinner, visiting and looking over the Ohio river. The tours, started by the late L. O. Trigg, Eldorado newspaper publisher, who called himself "Captain" but was later elevated to the rank of "Colonel" by tourists, have been held annually for 23 years. Areas, first "invaded" by the groups which often had to take down and rebuild furnished, improvise their own roads—even bridges, are now accessible to the tourist or local residents of this area by car. The tours have furnished wholesome recreation and satisfied curiosity about natural wonders of this area, at the same time advertising the area by word of mouth from those other areas who have been in the parties. Captain Bill Farley will again head this year's tour. The group will leave from the Horning hotel in Harrisburg Sunday afternoon and will meet for a "family" gathering at Ferne Clyffe park at Goreville. After that it will be men only, with the group spending the first night at Ferne Clyffe, touring Monday, spending the night in some suitable camping ground and completing the tour Tuesday. Meals are furnished on the way by various church and civic organizations.

Skaggs, Dewey Expand Production Of Nose Drops

INDUSTRY DEPT. While we've been talking about industry Auditor Dewey and Charlie Skaggs have been quietly going on with their own little Operation Snoot Sap, which is a liquid for the nose called Zedrops. What I mean it is a nose drop which they have been manufacturing and selling.

They started the Zedrop Co. about four years ago right here in Harrisburg and began selling the product, and they say they have received reports that it has been very successful in the treatment of sinus ailments and hay fever.

Using their own formula, they started branching out with Dewey making numerous trips in behalf of the product and soon they were selling Zedrops from Florida to Metropolis.

Now the Zedrop Co. is expanding its sales territory. The southern Illinois business was good enough to warrant going into bigger territory; so the company has secured the Trans American Marketing Agency, Inc., of St. Louis as the national representative for the firm.

It looks like our little Zedrop Co. has a future.

POLITICS: Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter has dispatched a booklet giving the official vote in the April primary. There were some races where we knew the result but not the vote. One was the race for Republican state central committee, won by Charles A. Jean of Anna, the incumbent, over W. K. Downen of West Frankfort.

The race was close with Jean receiving 21,935 votes in the 15 counties of the 25th Congressional district to 18,080 for Downen. L. Oard Sitter of Anna, only Democratic candidate, got 25,203 votes. The official vote for GOP state senator from the 51st district was Glen O. Jones of Raleigh, 10,648 to

Senate-House Conferees Begin Work On Administration Tax Reform Bill

By United Press

A Senate-House conference committee started work today on the administration's tax reform bill. It must adjust differences in House and Senate versions of the measure that would fulfill one of President Eisenhower's major legislative recommendations to the 83rd Congress.

The main point settled at the first meeting of the conference committee was to agree on a provision giving a widow or widower a break in figuring income taxes for two years after death of a spouse.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference today the conferees would agree quickly on the bill. One of the issues between the two Houses is how much tax relief to give persons with dividend income. The President said he hopes the final version will retain the principle — i. e. that double taxation is not good.

"SWINDLE": Andrew Nicol of the Berzeng County, N. J., prosecutor's office said small home owners across the country may be victims of a "swindle" involving FHA — guaranteed home improvement loans. He told Senate investigators that two New Jersey firms maintained a school to train salesmen in "perpetuating this fraud." Nicol's report on the complicated swindle caused Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.) to exclaim, "My God, I've heard everything now."

CONFLICT OF INTERESTS: Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. asked Congress to tighten the "conflict of interests" laws. Under present law it is a crime for a former government official, for two years after he leaves office, to prosecute a claim against the government on a matter with which he had been officially involved. Brownell would make it a crime also for the former official even to advise a client in any federal proceeding on a subject with which he had been connected while in the government.

ATOMIC: A Senate fight over public vs. private power threatened to hold up approval of the administration's atomic energy bill. Three amendments dealing with phases of the public power controversy were scheduled to be offered as the Senate resumed debate on the bill which would broaden international cooperation in the atomic field, develop an atomic power industry and lay the groundwork for President Eisenhower's worldwide atomic pool plan.

Minister and Wife Burned, Auto is Destroyed by Fire

Rep. John P. Maulding, Baptist minister from near McLeansboro, and Mrs. Maulding were burned and their auto completely destroyed by fire while they were returning to their home yesterday afternoon after purchasing a chemical for purifying the water in their cistern.

The chemical in its container was placed on the floor of the back seat of their car, and Rev. Maulding stated they had not been on the road five minutes when they discovered the back seat was aflame. Both managed to escape from the car although badly burned.

The fire apparently was caused by the extreme heat on the chemical F. Knowland (Calif.) said he expects the Senate to take two or three days to complete its consideration of the atomic bill, a revision of the 1946 Atomic Energy Act.

Two of the anticipated public power amendments were aimed at Mr. Eisenhower's plan for the Atomic Energy Commission to buy power from a Southern utility group to make up for what it is taking from the Tennessee Valley Authority. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N. M.) is expected to offer a legal ban on any such contract.

Another expected amendment would grant public users like rural electrification cooperatives preference to buy power from federally-licensed atomic power plants. Such preference is now provided for power from federally-constructed dams.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) predicted the revision bill will win Senate passage but he said the power controversy "certainly will delay it."

Kiwanians Hold Dinner Meeting at Boy Scout Camp

A group of local Kiwanians last night attended the club's regular dinner meeting which was held at the Boy Scout camp at Little Grassy lake. Following the dinner a tour of the camp area was made.

Newton Williams, a Kiwanian from Anna, is camp director and introduced the staff members, all teachers, who are in charge of the camp activities. Each member made a brief address telling of his part in the work at the camp. The club members enjoyed a fine meal which was topped off with ice cold watermelon. The group visited the waterfront area where the boats and canoes form an important part of the water program of the Boy Scouts. They also visited the amphitheatre, which is built into a hillside and where the Scouts present their Indian programs.

The Egyptian Council of Boy Scouts is encouraging meetings of civic groups at the Boy Scout camp to encourage civic leaders in various communities of southern Illinois to familiarize themselves with the Boy Scout camping program. Open house also is held each Thursday.

The local club will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday evening at the Masonic temple and Rev. Joe Morman, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be the speaker. The division sports day also will be held next Tuesday at the Murphysboro country club and some of the local members will attend.

Mrs. Ruby Woodruff Granted Leave by Dorrisville School Board

It was announced today by Brose Phillips, principal of the Dorrisville grade school, that the school board at a recent meeting granted a leave of absence to Mrs. Ruby Woodruff, second grade teacher. The leave is for only one nine-month term.

Mrs. Woodruff, a widow who has taught school for 14 consecutive years, plans to take a rest and visit with her family in Michigan, Wisconsin, and other northern states. She also intends to go to Norfolk, Va., where she has a niece.

House Defeats Eisenhower's Health Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—Representative Charles A. Wolterton (R-N.J.) blamed the American Medical Association today for the defeat of President Eisenhower's federal health reinsurance program in the House.

Republican leaders predicted the measure would win handily but when the showdown came late Tuesday it was decisively defeated, 238 to 134.

Wolterton said he believed the defeat was largely due to the fact that the AMA, which represents most U. S. physicians, took a strong stand against the bill. He noted that AMA spokesmen had charged that it was the first step toward "socialized medicine."

GOP House Leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) said the action kills the bill for this session, although it was one of the key items in the administration's legislative program. There is some question now whether the Senate will act on it.

Under the measure, the government would pay up to 75 per cent of the "abnormal" losses of acceptable private and nonprofit health insurance plans which agree to come into the federal reinsurance system and offer broadened benefits and coverage.

The plan would be self-supporting, after a starting fund of 25 million dollars, with costs borne by premiums levied by the government on insurance groups which volunteer for federal backing. The measure was the heart of President Eisenhower's health program and was supposed to promote greater health insurance coverage. But it would have no effect on customer insurance costs.

Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas Continues Tour After Visit Here Today

Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas arrived in Harrisburg shortly after noon today and was guest of the Saline County Democratic Women's organization during her stay in this city. Mrs. Douglas is touring the state in behalf of her husband, United States Senator Paul H. Douglas, seeking re-election in November.

Mrs. Douglas was in Olney Tuesday, was in Carmi as well as Harrisburg today, will be in Pinckneyville and Chester and Carbondale and West Frankfort Friday.

Following an open house at Nick's this afternoon, Mrs. Douglas and Kenneth Gray, congressional candidate from West Frankfort, had a 15-minute radio program over station WEBQ.

Mrs. Douglas will speak in West Frankfort Friday in behalf of the candidacy of Mr. Gray.

President to Continue Health Program Fight

Says Dulles Went To Europe to Keep United Front Intact

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he considers Tuesday's rejection of his health reinsurance plan by the House as only a temporary defeat. He said at his news conference that he will continue to fight for the health program as long as he is President.

Mr. Eisenhower said the American people were the only losers Tuesday. He reiterated his opposition to socialized medicine.

But he said some plan must be put into effect that will bring the best of medical care to lower income groups.

Ike Wants United Front

In other news conference highlights Mr. Eisenhower also said:

1. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles went to Paris mainly for the purpose of keeping intact a united front on basic principles with France and Great Britain. He said Dulles was trying to determine whether the presence of a high level U. S. representative at Geneva would be helpful or damaging. He indicated Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith may be sent to Geneva for the final phases of the Indochinese talks.

2. He stoutly plugged for the administration tax bill which went into House-Senate conference today. He hoped the conferees would act promptly. He said the measure would benefit all American income groups and would encourage the expansion of small businesses.

Asks Road Study

3. He had no definite plan for financing his suggested 50 billion dollar highway improvement program which he submitted to the national governors' conference. He said this would have to be studied by the governors and the municipalities before working out the financial details.

4. He thinks it would be a grave error to increase the butter subsidies to 85 per cent of parity as approved by the Senate Agricultural Committee. He said that middle men who have stored up butter since the recent cut of 76 per cent of parity will reap big benefits from such action. If Congress approves the essentials of his flexible farm price support plan, all the American people will benefit.

5. He expects to leave for a summer vacation in Denver between Aug. 15 and Aug. 17, saying

Defense Dep't Announces Plan to Rush Jet Planes And Arms to Thailand

WASHINGTON (UP)—America's drive to shore up Southeast Asia's defenses picked up speed today following a decision to rush jet planes and arms to vulnerable Thailand.

The Defense Department announced the "crash" program Tuesday night at the conclusion of 14 days of secret strategy talks here with a Thai military mission.

U. S. and Thai officials said the plan calls for immediate doubling of officer and non-com trainees in the Thai army; prompt shipment of U. S. jets, small arms, tanks, artillery and equipment; and the allotment of 3 million dollars in American funds to build a strategically important highway.

Informed sources revealed today that Nationalist China also will soon be receiving swift U. S. F-86 Sabre jets that may help keep Red China from committing the bulk of its air power to the Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

Adopt Anti-Red Resolution

These strategic moves were disclosed after the House Foreign Affairs Committee unanimously approved a resolution opposing the admission of Red China to the United Nations and backing President Eisenhower in his determination to keep it out.

The committee adopted the resolution instead of several stronger proposals calling for U. S. withdrawal from the U. N. or at least a policy "reexamination" in case of Red China's admission.

The group emphasized that it was making "no recommendation" as to what action the President or Congress should take. It said it has "every confidence" that Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will retain free world support for the U. S. position.

Sponsored By Bentley

The resolution, sponsored by Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.), was somewhat similar to a statement approved last week by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The administration took a strong stand against any advance commitment to quit the U. N.

Gen. Srisdi Dhanarajata, deputy Thai defense minister and army commander-in-chief, headed his country's military mission here. He emphasized that the new program stems from the critical military situation in Indochina.

He said he does not believe his country is in immediate danger even if the Communists are granted northern Viet Nam as a result of an Indochinese armistice. But he said the Reds will "concentrate on infiltrating Thailand and other Southeast Asian countries" once they have "consolidated their position" in northern Viet Nam and tried to take over political control of southern Viet Nam.

Clem Coleman, 77, Dies Near Shawneetown

Clem Coleman 77, died at his home near Shawneetown yesterday morning.

The funeral will be Thursday at 9 a. m. at St. Mary's Catholic church in Old Shawneetown. Rev. John O'Keefe will conduct the service, and burial will be in the Immaculate Conception cemetery. The body now rests at the family home where rosary will be said today at 8 p. m.

However, no real relief was expected for the nation's southern half. Forecasters gloomily predicted more 100-degree scorches and fallen heat records.

Heat was blamed for 12 deaths in the past three days, primarily in southwestern states, and included two infant children. In all, there were six deaths in Oklahoma, two in Iowa, two in St. Louis, one in Illinois and one in Texas.

Twenty-eight persons have collapsed from the heat in St. Louis, and scores of others throughout the country were prostrated.

Vinif, Okla., reported 117.5 degrees Tuesday. country continued to report new heat records. All time highs were set Tuesday at Tulsa, Okla., with 111 degrees, and at Springfield, Mo., with 108. Three Kansas cities —Chanute, Olathe and Emporia —suffered 114 degree scorches.

For many Great Plains states the heat wave was merely an intensification of a disastrous drought.

FILE CHARGES AGAINST FATHER AT MARION

While the cold front may keep Illinois cooler Thursday, a weatherman at Springfield said, "I wouldn't count on it lasting more than a day or so."

By-products of the heat wave included the death of a baby and criminal charges against a father who beat his 15-year-old daughter after she and another child went outside during the night to escape the heat.

The dead child was Lester Lee Cantrall, 8 months, Springfield. Coroner W. C. Telford said a pathological report showed the baby boy died in his trailer home of heat. In Marion, Joe Pedigo, 39, faced charges of aggravated assault for beating his daughter, Patsy, 15, after he found her and an 8-year-old sister in the backyard at their home at 2 a. m. earlier this week. The girls said they went outside to escape the heat.

Smith Ordered To Return To Conference

Dulles Believes 'Honorable' Peace is Possible

BULLETIN!

PARIS (UP)—High diplomatic sources said tonight that the United States, France and Britain have worked out a "deal" to pave the way for the signing of an Indochina peace, possibly by Monday.

PARIS (UP)—President Eisenhower has agreed to return under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith to Geneva for the showdown phase of the Indochina peace conference, an official announcement said today. Smith will arrive in Geneva Saturday.

The United States abandoned its "hands-off" policy on the Geneva conference after emergency meetings which began Tuesday night and concluded today among Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, French Premier and Foreign Minister Pierre Mendes-France and Britain's Anthony Eden.

Mendes-France is pressing for an agreement on Indochina within six days and Dulles apparently became convinced during his talks here that the prospects for an "honorable" peace are good.

Communism Reveals Shift

A four paragraph communique announced the decision to return Smith to the conference but at Dulles' insistence it underlined that he would do so "without departing from the principles" the U. S. previously had laid down.

However, Dulles recognized the Anglo-French argument as put forth in the communique "that it would nevertheless serve the interest of France and of the Associated States of Indochina . . . if the United States were once again to be represented at Geneva at the ministerial level."

In Geneva, rival Viet Nam and Communist Viet Minh leaders carried on their secret talks on a political settlement for Viet Nam, largest of the three Indochina states. Principally involved are arrangements for elections after a cease-fire is achieved in Geneva. The meetings were described as "progressing in very correct and constructive negotiations."

Dulles Arrived Skeptical

Dulles arrived here skeptical of Communist intentions, but authoritative sources said the first-hand accounts given by Mendes-France and Eden of the progress so far convinced him that an acceptable peace may be in the making.

The British and French diplomats were scheduled to leave this afternoon for Geneva for the final phase of the pay-off bargaining session. U. S. Ambassador to Czechoslovakia U. Alexis Johnson

Galatia Water Sup't Reports Ample Supply

Galatia's water outlook is much better than it was a year ago and an ample supply appears on hand at present, W. R. Gray, superintendent of the Galatia water system revealed yesterday.

This does not mean Galatia has water to waste, the superintendent pointed out, but the reservoir supply is in good shape barring an extended dry spell.

Last summer a water shortage developed in Galatia to the extent that it was necessary to curtail usage. A program to supplement the supply with driven wells was instituted later in the summer, and a bond issue was also passed, which has enabled the town to purchase land for a reserve reservoir in time.

Mr. Gray estimates the daily consumption at some 60,000 gallons now. He said that in his opinion the hot days evaporate an amount almost equal to this daily. The driven well is now producing about 4,000 gallons per day.

Galatia's currently ample supply stems from several good spring rains. Mr. Gray said, plus some sandbagging and tank improvements to the dam and plant storage system.

IKE NEEDS TO BE MASTER IN OWN POLITICAL HOUSE

Editorial — BY BRUCE BOSSAT It is widely reported that sharp republican struggles for control of the state party machinery are being fought within the Republican Party in many areas of the country. How they come out will determine whether or not President Eisenhower will be master in his own political house.

In a few cases, like Indiana, forces loyal to the President already have triumphed. But in most the issue is still in doubt.

The President and his intimate advisers can have no illusions about the meaning of failure. Republican history since the party's beginnings just before the Civil War suggests that Presidents who do not gain political mastery do not fare well at the voters' hands. From 1869 up to but not including the regime of Mr. Eisenhower, the GOP elected or elevated to office 12 Presidents. Of these, eight served one term or less.

Three of the remaining four — Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant and William McKinley — were elected to two terms. But assassins' bullets cut down Lincoln and McKinley in the first months of their second terms. Only Grant was elected twice and served the full eight years.

Theodore Roosevelt succeeded to the presidency upon McKinley's death in late 1901, and was elected for the first and only time in 1904. So he and Grant are the only Republicans who have served substantially two terms since the Civil War.

In contrast, every Democrat elected in that long span — Grover Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman — has had at least two terms.

Thus, in the last 94 years, the Republican Party has shown a strong capacity for getting its representatives elected to the White House, but relatively little for getting them re-elected once they are there.

More than a little feeling arises that lack of political mastery on the part of the one-term incumbents is a large factor in this record. Historians regard only Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt as outstanding political craftsmen in the GOP list.

The first Roosevelt provided his party with firm instruction on how to achieve mastery. When he rose from the vice presidency in 1901, he had a powerful rival for 1904 in the shape of Sen. Mark Hanna of Ohio, the GOP national chairman, who nursed White House ambitions and had a strong, loyal following.

He set about resolutely and ruthlessly to crush Hanna's power and make over the party in his own image. To do it he waded right into Hanna's stronghold, the Midwest. When the struggle was over, Roosevelt was victor — and master.

If Mr. Eisenhower does not succeed in the same sort of battle, the party will belong to his opposition. He might then still win re-election and re-election, but he would for all purposes be the captive of his opponents.

Presumably, it is to prevent that outcome that his forces are now fighting for control all across the land. The struggle is at least as bitter as that the GOP must wage this fall against the Democrats.

Sometimes Called the Sincerest Form of Flattery

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Senators Smell Political Deal Between Ike And Private Utilities In Tennessee Valley; Eisenhower TVA Letter Played Into Hands Of One Company; Bidding Was Prevented For AEC Power Plant.

WASHINGTON. — Despite backstage efforts to throttle it, one of the most important Senate investigations of the Eisenhower administration gets back into gear today.

It won't have the benefit of TV cameras or radio coverage, and it's being conducted on a shoe-string. Nevertheless, the probe goes into the strange reasons why the President of the United States should go over the heads of the Atomic Energy Commission, which is most unusual, and order them to sign a contract with a private power firm without competing bids, and when that contract will cost the taxpayers at least $100,000,000 more than if operated by the government.

Those who would like to stop the probe are Senators Dirksen of Illinois and Hendrickson of New Jersey, both Republican members of the Judiciary committee which is conducting the investigation.

Another senator who has reached out a clammy hand to discourage the probe is Senator Jenner of Indiana, who is chairman of the Rules Investigating subcommittee which passes on the funds for such probes. So far the investigating subcommittee has had so little money that it can hire no investigators, not even stenographers.

The work has been done almost singlehandedly by Sidney Davis, former law clerk of Justice Hugo Black, whom Senator Langer of North Dakota persuaded to come down from New York to investigate monopolies. Davis has been so short of funds that he has even had to serve subpoenas himself—quite a contrast to the army of probes McCarthy has flung around the USA with his Senate appropriation of nearly $200,000, plus private financial support from friends.

AMAZING FACTS Despite this handicap, however, and with the strong support of Chairman Langer, a Republican, the Senate committee has already uncovered some amazing facts. Here are some of them:

1. Pressure was brought by other public utilities to make sure other competing companies did not bid for the atomic energy plant at West Memphis; thus the Dixon-Yates combine, which got the bid, had an outright monopoly—thanks to Eisenhower's personal order.

2. It was apparent that the private utilities had made a deal with the Eisenhower administration, perhaps as early as a year ago, to put across this contract in order to block further expansion of government power by the Tennessee Valley Authority. Some congressmen claim this was a payoff for the private utilities' support given the GOP during the 1952 campaign. The strategy was so carefully prepared that Eisenhower actually spelled out the Dixon-Yates plan in his budget message last January.

3. The strategy of blocking TVA was one reason for dumping TVA administrator Gordon Clapp, a non-political career man who had an excellent record and who was immediately snatched up by New York City at a higher salary to handle its power problems. Eisenhower told congressmen in all seriousness that he was thinking of replacing Clapp with Bob Neyland, football-baseball coach at Tennessee university, who obviously knew little about power problems.

The way in which the utilities arranged not to let anyone else bid for the atomic energy power plant was told in a secret hearing when senators cross-examined David B. Sloan, head of Gibbs and Hill, which had helped prepare a competing bid for Walter Von Tresckow, former vice president of the

COMPANY TAKES A POWDER

Gibbs and Hill is one of about seven big engineering firms which draw plans for public utilities and had been retained by Von Tresckow to prepare a bid on the West Memphis plant. Suddenly, while preparing the bid, Gibbs and Hill walked out.

Questioned by senators as to why Gibbs and Hill exited so suddenly, Von Tresckow said that officials of the company had come to see him on May 6 and said they were sorry but they had to pull out.

"Did Mr. Sloan (head of Gibbs and Hill) tell you who was exerting pressure on them?" asked counsel Davis.

"Yes," replied Von Tresckow, "that Mr. Dixon was exerting pressure through Mr. England. And Mr. England in Atlantic City was one of their very good customers, and the implications were that it had been done also to other customers of theirs, as well as suppliers."

The Dixon referred to above was the partner in the Dixon-Yates combine which got the AEC contract after competition was removed, while England is president of the Atlantic City Electrical company.

"Did they say anything about pressure from electrical equipment manufacturers or boiler manufacturers?" Davis asked.

"Generally, yes," replied Von Tresckow, "without mentioning names."

When Sloan was called to the witness stand, he alibied all over the committee room, but finally admitted that he withdrew from his business arrangement with Von Tresckow because of pressure from other private utilities.

The senators also brought out evidence showing that the Atomic Energy Commission could have built the plant for at least $90,000,000 less, when spread over the life of the contract, under the Von Tresckow proposal.

Furthermore, the power plant, at the end of the contract, would have reverted to the United States, instead of becoming the property of Dixon-Yates, as specified under the contract which President Eisenhower ordered to be signed.

These are some of the facts

NATURALLY CLEANER GASOLINE!

PHILLIPS 66

PHILLIPS 66 FLITE-FUEL does not require an additive to combat spark plug fouling and engine deposits. Its clean burning qualities are the result of using high purity natural and aviation gasoline components.

FOR YOUR CAR . . . the only gasoline with the added super aviation fuel component Di-isopropyl.

Phillips was the first to make Di-isopropyl and HF Alkylate. But now authorities have removed the restrictions and they can be blended in Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL for your car.

FLITE-FUEL brings you more power, higher anti-knock, longer mileage, plus the important advantages of Phillips 66 controlled volatility. You also benefit from the clean burning qualities for which Phillips 66 Gasoline is famous. Get FLITE-FUEL at stations displaying the Phillips 66 Shield.

Churchill Hits Attlee Criticism Of U. S. Policy

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today that admission of Communist China to the United Nations should be long postponed and he stoutly defended the United States against criticism by Socialist Leader Clement Attlee.

Attlee had just told the House of Commons that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' refusal to return to the Geneva conference "plays right into the hands of the Communists." He also demanded that Britain press for Peiping's admittance to the U. N.

Churchill, replying in the Commons' debate on foreign affairs, was jeered and booed by the Laborites when he said:

"We are not going to raise the question of Communist China now. I think next September when the United Nations meets would be too soon also. It may be better to postpone it altogether to a later period."

That Churchill was in for a sharp going over at today's debate became evident Tuesday night. He appeared before a subcommittee meeting of his own party and was rebuffed in an appeal for party unity on withdrawal of British troops from the Suez Canal zone.

The 79-year-old prime minister, who rarely attends such minor meetings, made an emotional appeal to rank-and-file members of his Conservative party to stand by him on Suez policy. But a group of 40 rebel Conservatives flatly refused.

The 40 rebel Conservatives could wipe out the government's 30-vote average majority and force Churchill to resign if he pressed the issue to a vote in the House of Commons. However, observers said he would get Labor party votes in support of his stand on the issue.

The latest British proposal to Egypt was reported to provide for complete troop withdrawal by Britain with the right to reenter the canal zone in case of emergency. —Installations in the zone would be maintained by civilians.

CUTTING, UP—One of the best barbed lawns in Dallas, Tex., grows atop the downtown, seven-story Commercial Building, famed locally as the Southwest's first "skyscraper." The 15-by-30-foot lawn is the "front yard" of a penthouse apartment built by the owner's son, Edward Cox. Under its six-inch sod is a hidden sprinkling system. Cox and his mother, Mrs. Effie Cox, use the apartment when they work late and for business entertaining. In the photo, the grass is being cut by Wayne Evans, an accountant for the owners. Boy, 9, Tells of Boating Tragedy With 10 Drowned

ILE BIZARD, Que. (AP) — A 9-year-old survivor of a holiday boating accident that claimed the lives of 12 children sobbed today that "something popped" seconds before the boat overturned.

Police believed the "pop" came as the weight of 17 youngsters and 2 adults forced a plug from the bottom of a 12-foot outboard motorboat. The boat pitched all aboard into the choppy waters of the Lake of Two Mountains Tuesday afternoon in the worst boating mishap in the Montreal area's history.

Reggie Walton, one of five children rescued in the tragedy that saw his 11-year-old sister, Estelle, drown, told a reporter that "something popped and the water started coming in."

"Everyone started shouting and screaming," Reggie said tearfully. "But I saved myself by holding onto the boat until someone came and got me."

The eight girls and two boys drowned when they set out for a ride in a boat owned by Jack Seligman, a 44-year-old Montreal baker, who has a summer cottage nearby.

Boy, 2, is Killed By Truck While Playing in Driveway

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Jerry Dean Orvis, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Orvis, was killed Tuesday night when a truck backed over him while he was playing in the driveway of his front yard.

Edward Aldrich, driver of the truck, said he did not see the boy when he was backing out of the Lincoln Cabin Courts driveway.

It marked the 27th traffic fatality of the year in La Salle County.

Army Unveils 'Push-Button' Type Weapons

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP) — Some of the nation's top defense officials witnessed a startling display of push-button warfare as the Army unveiled a few of its "Buck Rogers" type weapons here Tuesday.

An all-out demonstration of military strength featured a supersonic rocket capable of carrying an atomic warhead and other ultra-modern guns which leave many World War II and Korean war type weapons obsolete.

In a companion exhibition, 720 combat-ready paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division bailed out of 13 Air Force C-119 transports in a near-perfect air drop — with only one man being injured. But base hospital officials reported that the man was only knocked out and was doing fine.

A parade with 20,000 soldiers of the 82nd with atomic artillery from the 18th Airborne Corps was staged for Deputy Defense Secretary Robert B. Anderson, Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff.

Their ears stuffed with cotton, Anderson and Stevens trod with Ridgway over the dusty reservation to view at close range the firing of the Honest John rocket and the booming 280-mm atomic gun, 240-mm howitzer and a 155-mm gun.

The Honest John, a three-ton rocket 27 feet long, flashed skyward from its launcher in an orange burst and quickly disappeared from sight. Armed with an atomic warhead, the missile in combat would have the effect of hundreds of artillery shells and the Army said it has "considerably more battlefield ability" than artillery.

At least 24 of the mighty 85-ton atomic cannon's counterparts are in Europe ready for atomic operations should a war start.

8-Month-Old Boy Dies of Heat

SPRINGFIELD — Coroner W. C. Telford said today that an 8-month-old child died Tuesday from effects of the heat.

The dead baby was Lester Lee Cantrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cantrell, who live at a trailer park. The baby's body was found lying face down in his bed, with a blanket over his head.

Telford said a pathologist's report at an inquest showed the death was caused by heat. The temperature reached a high of 106 here Monday and 100 Tuesday.

Today is Proclaimed Ground Observer Day

CHICAGO — Gov. William G. Stratton proclaimed today "Ground Observer Corps Day" in recognition of the state's more than 33,000 volunteer ground observers.

Large Enrollment At Methodist Youth Institute

The Methodist Youth Institute being held at the Beulah Camp Ground site started Monday with the largest enrollment for the first day that has ever attended. Twelve hundred young people and helpers were registered Monday afternoon. There were 23 young people from Harrisburg, the largest number ever registered.

Bill Weston, director of the Youth Movement in St. Louis is again directing the music. Classes during the day are conducted by efficient teachers and the evening evangelistic message is by the Rev. Phil Hinerman, pastor of the Park Avenue Methodist church, Minneapolis, Minn.

Tomorrow at noon the annual pot-lock dinner will be held on the grounds. Mothers and friends of the local young people will take food and table service and spread the picnic dinner together.

Alston, Losing All-Star Manager, Hopeful as Dodgers Begin Road Trip

By John Griffin
United Press Sports Writer
Walter (The Quiet Man) Alston didn't have much luck as the rookie manager of the National League All-Stars, but he'll forget that in a hurry if only his Brooklyn Dodgers can turn their road trip which starts tonight into a come-back trail.

Ordinarily no major league games are scheduled on the day after the annual All-Star game—an arrangement that gives the players a three-day "vacation" at the mid-season mark.

But the Dodgers visit the Milwaukee Braves tonight under the lights under a special arrangement forced by postponements. The future schedule is so jam-packed that the officials just couldn't find another place to squeeze in this rain-outed clash.

First Of Five

The game touches off a five-game Braves-Dodgers series which is all-important to Brooklyn's chances of overhauling the front-running New York Giants—who now lead them by 5 1/2 games. Alston was frankly hopeful that the addition of a new pinch-hitter, Sandy Amoros, to his squad and the lifting of worry from the mind of slugger Roy Campanella would give his Dodgers the lift that would carry them off on a winning streak. "Our pinch-hitters haven't been much help," admitted Alston.

Campanella, though hitting better of late, had been worried that a numbness of two fingers of his left hand would spread to the rest of the hand. But a doctor assured him on Monday this worry was unfounded.

At Cleveland Tuesday, where he got one hit in three trips in the All-Star game, Campanella said he was somewhat relieved but "the hand still doesn't feel normal and until it does I can't play as good as I can."

Russ Meyer (6-2) was slated to pitch tonight for the Dodgers against Jim Wilson (6-0) for Milwaukee.

The Giants swing back into action Thursday night in the opener of a three-game series at St. Louis. American League warfare, where the champion New York Yankees now trail the Cleveland Indians by one half-game, resumes Thursday.

The Yankees will be at home in a night game against the Baltimore Orioles. Cleveland will be at Philadelphia, also under the lights. The Chicago White Sox, three games off the pace after a brilliant comeback, will be visiting Washington in another night affair.

Sports World Mourns Death of Grantland Rice

Famed Columnist Dies Following Stroke at Age 73

NEW YORK —(AP)— Champions of the "Golden Decade" of American sports, many of them owing part of their fame to his writings, led the sports world today in mourning the death of Grantland Rice at the age of 73.

Rice, dean of the nation's syndicated sports columnists, died at Roosevelt Hospital Tuesday night. He had been taken to the hospital after suffering a stroke while working in his mid-town office.

Although he had been in failing health in recent years, the 50-year veteran of sports writing remained active virtually until the moment of his death. His syndicated column, distributed by the North American Newspaper Alliance, had been carried by more than 100 newspapers for the past 23 years.

Dempsey, Jones Pay Tribute
Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey and golf champion Bobby Jones, who were at the peak of their fame in the "Golden Decade" of the 1920s when Rice penned many of his most famous stories, were among the prominent sports figures who paid tribute to the columnist.

Dempsey, who recalled that "Grantland covered most of my important fights," called him "one of the greatest sports writers of all time and a close personal friend." Jones, partner of Rice on many a friendly golfing holiday, called Rice's death a shock and said, "The thing which made him a great writer was that he was a great human being."

Four Horsemen Saddened
Also expressing sorrow were members of that famous Notre Dame backfield of 1924, who achieved undying football fame when Rice wrote of them, "Across a grey October sky, the Four Horsemen rode again today." Jimmy Crowley of the "Four Horsemen" called Rice "a true friend and a master craftsman." Harry Struhldreher said the four stars and the columnists had been warm personal friends and held yearly reunions.

Many of the phrases which Rice wrote became bywords in the world of sports and perhaps the most famous of these came from his brief poem which ended: "For when the One Great Scorer comes

"To write against your name
"He'll write not that you won or lost
"But how you played the game."

Jaycees, Pickford's, Walker's Win Kiwanis L. Games

Three games were played in the Kiwanis league yesterday, but the extreme hot weather caused the fourth game on the schedule to be called.

The NYC-AAA game bowed to the heat. The Jaycees defeated Mitchell's Shells, 11-8, giving Mitchell's their second loss of the season. Jones was the winning hurler and Howton the loser. Hull of the Jaycees hit three for four and J. Cummins of the losers had two hits in four tries. Pickford's Flowers pounded out a 21-6 win over Pankey's Bakery. Ashbell was credited with the win and Syers took the defeat.

Walker's Cleaners trounced the Deuces, 38-1. Aldridge of the winners was touched for just one hit, by J. L. Robinson. Harris was the losing pitcher and gave up homers to Williams and Dardeen of the Cleaners.

Lyle Lee or Garatia, the area's top water ski artist, has been hired as instructor of the sport at Kirkwood's Lodge, Osage Beach, on the Lake of the Ozarks. Lee left this week with his wife to assume his duties there. He will serve as instructor there until August 28, returning to southern Illinois in time for some aquatic feats at the Du Quoin State Fair.

Lee, who commenced his water skiing activities in 1949, has come a long way in the short span of five years. His long and continual hard work on the wooden rails is beginning to pay off with some fine recognition. Recently, Lee organized a water ski group composed of Jim Upton, Galatia, Gordon Williams and Bob Humphrey, Harrisburg, and himself. June Upton and Pat Lee, wives of the two Galatia men, became a part of the troupe later and now they are known as the Aqua Daredevils. They have given exhibitions at Mt. Carmel on the Wabash and Cave-in-Rock and Rosiclare on the Ohio. Tentative plans also call for water shows by the group of Saline countians at Benton and Marion this summer, with their showing at the Du Quoin Fair coming late in August.

American League Shows Power in 11-9 All-Star Victory; National Complains of 'Balk', 'Chip Shot'

By DICK FALES

United Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND —(AP)— Triumphant American Leaguers pointed with pride today to their 11-9 victory in the heaviest hitting of all All-Star games as conclusive proof that their home run power is not dead after all.

But Tuesday's 31-hit, six-homer Donnybrook left many National Leaguers muttering about a "balk" that wasn't called and a "chip shot" single that scored the winning runs.

In the days of yore, there was no doubt about American League power—the "junior" league was supposed to be the sluggers' league and the National was the pitchers' league. Since World War II, the situation was supposed to have been reversed.

NL's Thunder Stolen
But Al Rosen's two record-tying homers and one each by Larry Doby and Ray Boone completely stole the thunder of the National League in Tuesday's contest. Only Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell of Cincinnati homered for the Nationals.

"The long ball beat us," admitted National League Manager Walter Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The New York Giants and a coach under Alston for this game, had two other more bitter comments to make.

His first concerned the disputed play in the top of the eighth inning when, with the NL leading, 9-8, Durocher as third base coach sent Al Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals scouting in an attempt to steal home against rookie southpaw Dean Stone of the Washington Senators.

Called Out By Umpire
Umpire Bill Stewart of the NL called Schoendienst out at the plate, but Durocher protested at length that Stone had balked by failing to come to a full stop in his pitching motion.

"If he had stopped," said the vocal Durocher, "he would have made it. Only Stone got away with a balk."

Alston, as quiet as Durocher usually is, agreed in a lower tone that he thought Stone had balked. "It cost us one run, maybe more," said the tall, balding Dodger pilot. "But probably more than that one play, the long ball hurt us."

Durocher added, "Home runs all over the place—so what beat us? A lousy 98-foot chip shot."

Refers To Fox's Blooper
Durocher was referring to the bloop single delivered by Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox in the last of the eighth with the bases loaded. As shortstop Al Dark dove desperately for the ball, two runners raced home to give the American League the

Fox grinned around a big wad of chewing tobacco and agreed, "It was a helluva hit. But a hit's a hit, so who's to complain?"

Fox got his payoff hit against reliever Carl Erskine of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who had just come in and fanned Mickey Vernon of the Senators for the second out. Nellie said it was a "very fast" pitch and admitted he didn't get a good piece of the ball.

Rosen Ties Record
Rosen, who came very close to not playing at all because of his swollen right index finger, tied one record, held by Ted Williams of the Red Sox and the late Arky Vaughan of the Pirates, by hitting two homers. He tied another Williams record by driving in five runs.

"That sorta puts me in with the big rappers," said the Cleveland Indians' slugger with a wide grin. Rosen's two blasts topped a fine day for home town fans. Including the work of Rosen and Doby, Indians players collected seven of the AL's 17 hits and drove in eight runs. In addition, former Indian Minnie Mino of the White Sox got two singles and a walk and Boone of Detroit also is a former Tribesman.

The AL jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the third inning on Rosen's bases-empty blast, both off Robin Roberts of the Phillies. The NL rebounded immediately with five runs in their fourth on successive singles by Duke Snider of the Dodgers, Stan Musial of the Cards, Kluszewski, and Ray Jablonski of the Cards and doubles by Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers and Don Mueller of the Giants.

Scores On Avila's Sacrifice
Bobby Avila's sacrifice fly in the same frame scored Chico Carrasquel of the White Sox with a tying run but Kluszewski's two-run homer in the fifth put the NL ahead again, 7-5. Rosen's two-run homer in the same frame again knotted the count.

Avila singled home another run in the sixth to put the AL ahead, 8-7. Gus Bell's two-run pinch-hit homer in the eighth put the NL ahead, 9-8, and set the stage for Doby to tie the score in the last of the eighth on his homer, and for Fox to come through with his bases-loaded single.

Tris Speaker Suffers Heart Attack

CLEVELAND, O. —(AP)— Tris Speaker, the American League's former center fielder who was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1937, was reported in "fair condition" today following a heart attack on the eve of the All-Star game.

Speaker, 65, collapsed at his home on Monday night and was rushed to Lakeside Hospital. Scheduled to see the All-Star game, the famed outfielder wasn't able to even view the 21st classic on television.

He played with Boston, Cleveland, Washington and Philadelphia and wound up his long career in 1928 following a pennant-winning stint at the helm of the Cleveland Indians in 1920.

Statesville Prisoners May Join in Cold Experiments

CHICAGO (AP)—More than 1,000 inmates of Statesville Penitentiary may ultimately join in a mass experiment to try to find who doesn't catch cold or who catches one easily, it was disclosed today.

Dr. Harry S. Dowling, head of the department of the college of medicine, University of Illinois professional colleges, disclosed that 84 convicts already have volunteered for the experiments. Ultimately there may be 1,000 in the research project, Dowling said.

Dowling is head of a research and study team working under auspices of the Department of the Army.

He said only volunteers will be used, and that colds "planted" through deliberate infection generally are milder than the kind a subject would catch by himself.

Army Unveils 'Push-Button' Type Weapons

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Some of the nation's top defense officials witnessed a startling display of push-button warfare as the Army unveiled a few of its "Buck Rogers" type weapons here Tuesday.

An all-out demonstration of military strength featured a supersonic rocket capable of carrying an atomic warhead and other ultra-modern guns which leave many World War II and Korean war type weapons obsolete.

In a companion exhibition, 720 combat-ready paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division bailed out of 19 Air Force C-119 transports in a near-perfect air drop — with only one man being injured. But base hospital officials reported that the man was only knocked out and was doing fine.

A parade with 20,000 soldiers of the 32nd with atomic artillery from the 18th Airborne Corps was staged for Deputy Defense Secretary Robert B. Anderson, Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff.

Their ears stuffed with cotton, Anderson and Stevens trod with Ridgway over the dusty reservation to view at close range the firing of the Honest John rocket and the booming 280-mm atomic gun, 240-mm howitzer and a 155-mm gun.

The Honest John, a three-ton rocket 27 feet long, flashed skyward from its launcher in an orange burst and quickly disappeared from sight. Armed with an atomic warhead, the missile in combat would have the effect of hundreds of artillery shells and the Army said it has "considerably more battlefield ability" than artillery.

At least 24 of the mighty 85-ton atomic cannon's counterparts are in Europe ready for atomic operations should a war start.

Alston, Losing All-Star Manager, Hopeful as Dodgers Begin Road Trip

By John Griffin
United Press Sports Writer
Waiter (The Quiet Man) Alston didn't have much luck as the rookie manager of the National League All-Stars, but he'll forget that in a hurry if only his Brooklyn Dodgers can turn their road trip which starts tonight into a comeback trail.

Ordinarily no major league games are scheduled on the day after the annual All-Star game—an arrangement that gives the players a three-day "vacation" at the mid-season mark.

But the Dodgers visit the Milwaukee Braves tonight under the lights under a special arrangement forced by postponements. The future schedule is so jam-packed that the officials just couldn't find another place to squeeze in this rained-out clash.

First Of Five
The game touches off a five-game Braves-Dodgers series which is all-important to Brooklyn's chances of overhauling the front-running New York Giants—who now lead them by 5 1/2 games.

Alston was frankly hopeful that the addition of a new pinch-hitter, Sandy Amoros, to his squad and the lifting of worry from the mind of slugger Roy Campanella would give his Dodgers the lift that would carry them off on a winning streak.

"Our pinch-hitters haven't been much help," admitted Alston. Campanella, though hitting better of late, had been worried that a numbness of two fingers of his left hand would spread to the rest of the hand. But a doctor assured him on Monday this worry was unfounded.

Campanella "Relieved"
At Cleveland Tuesday, where he got one hit in three trips in the All-Star game, Campanella said he was somewhat relieved but "the hand still doesn't feel normal and until it does I can't play as good as I can."

Russ Meyer (6-2) was slated to pitch tonight for the Dodgers against Tim Lincecum (6-0) for Milwaukee.

The Giants swing back into action Thursday night in the opener of a three-game series at St. Louis. American League warfare, where the champion New York Yankees now trail the Cleveland Indians by one half-game, resumes Thursday.

The Yankees will be at home in a night game against the Baltimore Orioles. Cleveland will be at Philadelphia, also under the lights. The Chicago White Sox, three games off the pace after a brilliant comeback, will be visiting Washington in another night affair.

Sports World Mourns Death of Grantland Rice

Famed Columnist Dies Following Stroke at Age 73

NEW YORK — Champions of the "Golden Decade" of American sports, many of them owing part of their fame to his writings, led the sports world today in mourning the death of Grantland Rice at the age of 73.

Rice, dean of the nation's syndicated sports columnists, died at Roosevelt Hospital Tuesday night. He had been taken to the hospital after suffering a stroke while working in his mid-town office.

Although he had been in failing health in recent years, the 50-year veteran of sports writing remained active virtually until the moment of his death. His syndicated column, distributed by the North American Newspaper Alliance, had been carried by more than 100 newspapers for the past 23 years.

Dempsey, Jones Pay Tribute

Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey and golf champion Bobby Jones, who were at the peak of their fame in the "Golden Decade" of the 1920s when Rice penned many of his most famous stories, were among the prominent sports figures who paid tribute to the columnist.

Dempsey, who recalled that "Grantland covered most of my important fights," called him "one of the greatest sports writers of all time and a close personal friend." Jones, partner of Rice on a friendly golfing holiday, called Rice's death a shock and said, "The thing which made him a great writer was that he was a great human being."

Four Horsemen Saddened

Also expressing sorrow were members of that famous Notre Dame backfield of 1924, who achieved undying football fame when Rice wrote of them, "Across a grey October sky, the Four Horsemen rode again today." Jimmy Crowley of the "Four Horsemen" called Rice "a true friend and a master craftsman." Harry Struhldreher said the four stars and the columnists had been warm personal friends and held yearly reunions.

Many of the phrases which Rice wrote became bywords in the world of sports and perhaps the most famous of these came from his brief poem which ended:

"For when the One Great Scorer comes
To write against your name
He'll write not that you won or lost
But how you played the game."

Lyle Lee or Garatia, the area's top water ski artist, has been hired as instructor of the sport at Kirkwood's Lodge, Osage Beach, on the Lake of the Ozarks. Lee left this week with his wife to assume his duties there. He will serve as instructor there until August 28, returning to southern Illinois in time for some aquatic feats at the Du Quoin State Fair.

Lee, who commenced his water skiing activities in 1949, has come a long way in the short span of five years. His long and continual hard work on the wooden rails is beginning to pay off with some fine recognition. Recently, Lee organized a water ski group composed of Jim Upton, Galatia, Gordon Williams and Bob Humphrey, Harrisburg, and himself. June Upton and Pat Lee, wives of the two Galatia men, became a part of the troupe later and now they are known as the Aqua Daredevils. They have given exhibitions at Mt. Carmel on the Wabash and Cave-in-Rock and Rosiclare on the Ohio. Tentative plans also call for water shows by the group of Saline county at Benton and Marion this summer, with their showing at the Du Quoin Fair coming late in August.

American League Shows Power in 11-9 All-Star Victory; National Complains of 'Balk', 'Chip Shot'

By DICK FALES

United Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND — A triumphant American Leaguers pointed with pride today to their 11-9 victory in the heaviest hitting of all All-Star games as conclusive proof that their home run power is not dead after all.

But Tuesday's 31-hit, six-homer Donnybrook left many National Leaguers muttering about a "balk" that wasn't called and a "chip shot" single that scored the winning runs.

In the days of yore, there was no doubt about American League power—the "junior" league was supposed to be the sluggers' league and the National was the pitchers' league. Since World War II, the situation was supposed to have been reversed.

N.L. Thunder Stolen

But Al Rosen's two record-tying homers and one each by Larry Doby and Ray Boone completely stole the thunder of the National Leaguers in Tuesday's contest. Only Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell of Cincinnati homered for the Nationals.

"The long ball beat us," admitted National League Manager Walter Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers. But Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants and a coach under Alston for this game, had two other more bitter comments to make.

His first concerned the disputed play in the top of the eighth inning when, with the NL leading, 9-8, Durocher as third base coach sent Al Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals scooting in an attempt to steal home against rookie southpaw Dean Stone of the Washington Senators.

Called Out By Umpire

Umpire Bill Stewart of the NL called Schoendienst out at the plate, but Durocher protested at length that Stone had balked by failing to come to a full stop in his pitching motion.

"If he had stopped," said the vocal Durocher, "he would have made it. Only Stone got away with a balk."

Alston, as quiet as Durocher usually is loud, agreed in a lower tone that he thought Stone had balked.

"It cost us one run, maybe more," said the tall, balding Durocher or pilot. "But probably more than that one play, the long ball hurt us."

Durocher added, "Home runs all over the place—so what beats us? A lousy 98-foot chip shot."

Refers To Fox's Blooper

Durocher was referring to the bloop single delivered by Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox in the last of the eighth with the bases loaded. As shortstop Al Dark dove desperately for the ball, two runners raced home to give the American League the game.

Fox grinned around a big wad of chewing tobacco and agreed, "It was a helluva hit. But a hit's a hit, so who's to complain?"

Fox got his payoff hit against reliever Carl Erskine of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who had just come in and fanned Mickey Vernon of the Senators for the second out. Nellie said it was a "very fast" pitch and admitted he didn't get a good piece of the ball.

Rosen Ties Record

Rosen, who came very close to not playing at all because of his swollen right index finger, tied one record, held by Ted Williams of the Red Sox and the late Arky Vaughan of the Pirates, by hitting two homers. He tied another Williams record by driving in five runs.

"That sorta puts me in with the big rappers," said the Cleveland Indians' slugger with a wide grin.

Rosen's two blasts topped a fine day for home town fans. Including the work of Rosen and Doby, Indians players collected seven of the AL's 17 hits and drove in eight runs. In addition, former Indian Minnie Minoso of the White Sox got two singles and a walk and Boone of Detroit also is a former Tribesman.

The AL jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the third inning on Rosen's three-run homer and Boone's bases-empty blast, both off Robin Roberts of the Phillies. The NL rebounded immediately with five runs in their fourth on successive singles by Duke Snider of the Dodgers, Stan Musial of the Cards, Kluszewski, and Ray Jablonski of the Cards and doubles by Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers and Don Mueller of the Giants.

Scorer On Avila's Sacrifice

Bobby Avila's sacrifice fly in the same frame scored Chico Carrasquel of the White Sox with a tying run but Kluszewski's two-run homer in the fifth put the NL ahead again, 7-5. Rosen's two-run homer in the same frame again knotted the count.

Avila singled home another run in the sixth to put the AL ahead, 8-7. Gus Bell's two-run pinch-homer in the eighth put the NL ahead, 9-8, and set the stage for Doby to tie the score in the last of the eighth on his homer, and for Fox to come through with his bases-loaded single.

Tris Speaker Suffers Heart Attack

CLEVELAND, O. — Tris Speaker, the American League's former center fielder who was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1937, was reported in "fair condition" today following a heart attack on the eve of the All-Star game.

Speaker, 65, collapsed at his home on Monday night and was rushed to Lakeside Hospital. Scheduled to see the All-Star game, the famed outfielder wasn't able to even view the 21st classic on television.

He played with Boston, Cleveland, Washington and Philadelphia and wound up his long career in 1928 following a pennant-winning stint at the helm of the Cleveland Indians in 1920.

Sleep Position Varies
The average person changes position from 20 to 45 times a night. The person who does not change position often, does not, contrary to popular opinion, have a restless night and will probably awaken with a logy feeling. A level, resilient bed is necessary to facilitate frequent position changes.

Bennett Champ Clark, Former Senator, Dies

GLoucester, Mass. (UP) — Judge Bennett Champ Clark, former U. S. senator from Missouri and an outspoken Democratic critic of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal policies, died of a cerebral hemorrhage here Tuesday.

Clark, 64, was stricken at the home where he and his second wife, former British film actress Violet Heming, spent their summers. He died eight hours later at a Gloucester hospital.

A native of Bowling Green, Mo., Clark entered politics at the age of 14 as a precinct worker under the tutelage of his father, Champ Clark, one of the ablest speakers of the House.

Clark came to the Senate in 1933 to fill the unexpired term of Sen. Howard B. Hawks. He twice was elected thereafter but lost out in the 1944 primary due to organized labor opposition.

Clark was a member of the "peace bloc" in the Senate before the Pearl Harbor attack.

A confirmed isolationist, Clark also opposed the late President Roosevelt's attempt to enlarge the Supreme Court and many of his economic reforms.

Clark was appointed by President Truman to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals after he failed to win renomination in 1944. As a judge he became famous for his witty epigrams.

About Town And Country

3300 for Carl H. Jordan of McLeansboro. The Democrats had no candidate. Leroy Barham of Harrisburg got 87 write-in votes but told a Register reporter right after the election that he definitely did not intend to be on the ballot.

While we're at it, we might as well give the official vote for representative in the primary, in which two Republicans and one Democrat were nominated:

Democratic — Gordon E. Kerr 17,180; W. O. Verhines 14,701; Louis H. Sullivan 11,687; Dave E. Evans 4,970. Democratic — Paul Powell 19,545.

I was reading through the Kiplinger magazine, Changing Times, and came across items of interest which this department will pass on to you.

One item said it looks as if it will be at least another six months before color TV gets off the ground.

"Sale of color sets," it says, "has been a struggle because of high prices ($1,000 and up) and small screens (around 12 1/2 inches)."

And another item said that the economic outlook is pretty good.

"There is even some talk that the turn already has come," it states, "and that from now on the general business atmosphere will clear. Production is higher. There are now fewer weak spots in business. Fall or winter will bring an upturn. Unemployment won't disappear overnight. It will take some time to get work weeks and pay checks back to what they were a year ago, too."

President to Continue Health Program Fight

he wanted to remain here to handle the bills left by Congress which is expected to adjourn about July 31.

6. He has not decided whether to ask Congress again to increase the federal debt limit. He said his decision awaits completion of all appropriations measures. He added that he does not believe the government can proceed on the theory that the United States can live forever on deficit spending.

7. He disclaimed first-hand knowledge of a story told by Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin that Kohler induced Mr. Eisenhower to delete remarks laudatory to Gen. George C. Marshall from a 1952 campaign speech made at Milwaukee.

8. He will definitely appoint a new chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority before adjournment of Congress. He said he had a chairman in mind, but he declined to identify him.

9. He endorsed the Republican senatorial candidacy of Clifford Case in New Jersey. He said Case is a very splendid American who is dedicated to public service.

10. He believed he could safely leave up to the Senate the campaign of Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) to strip Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) of his committee chairmanships.

U. S. and Britain Agree to Grant Germany Sovereignty

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States and Britain have agreed upon a proposal to grant sovereignty to Germany if France fails to ratify the European Defense Community.

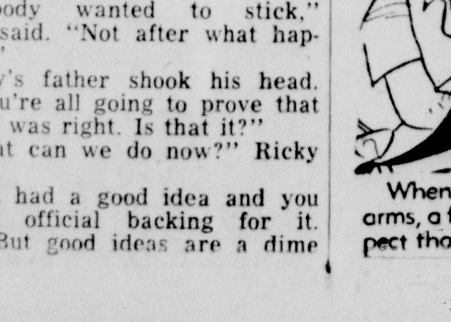

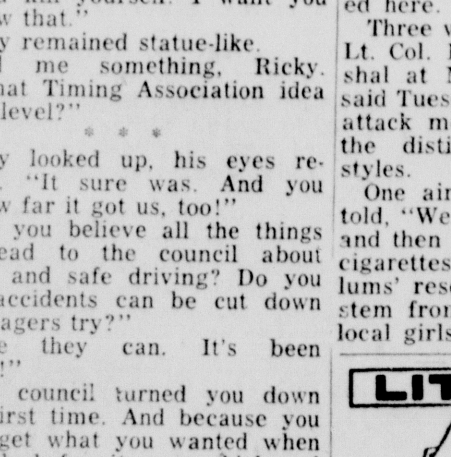

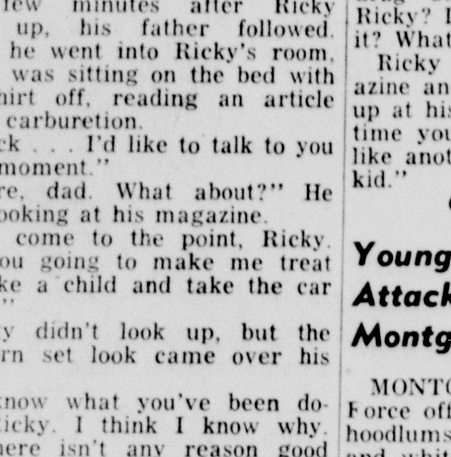

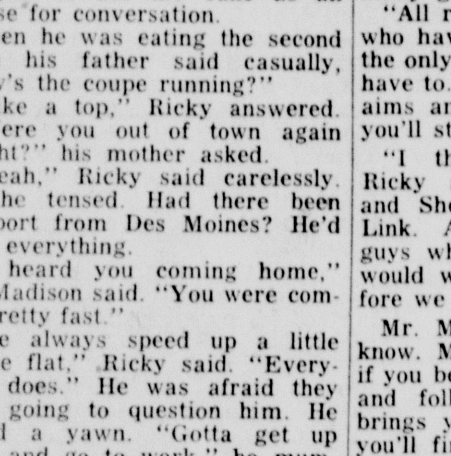

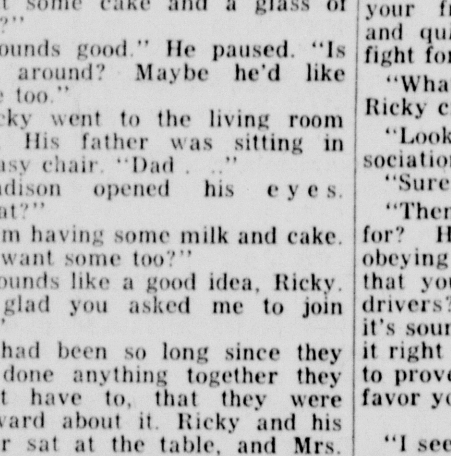

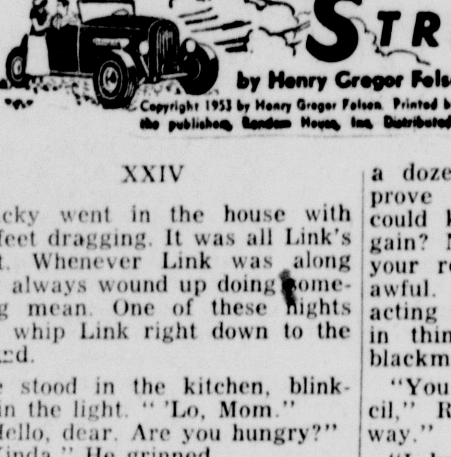

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has given that information to Congress. In a letter to Chairman Robert B. Chipfield (R-Ill.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Dulles said, however, that under the proposal the rearmament of Germany would "be deferred for the time being."

4,000 Accused Reds Arrested in Guatemala

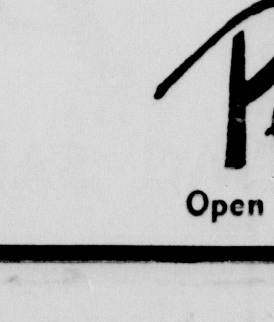

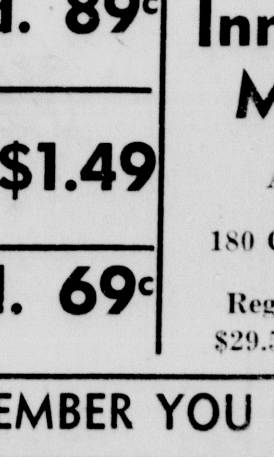

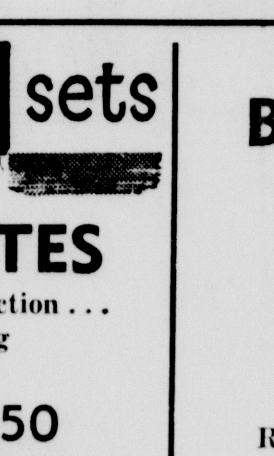

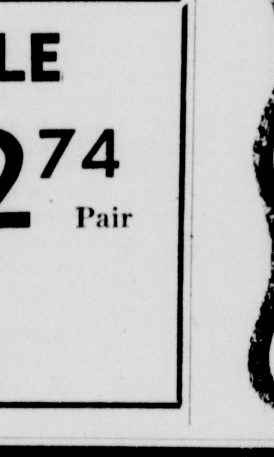

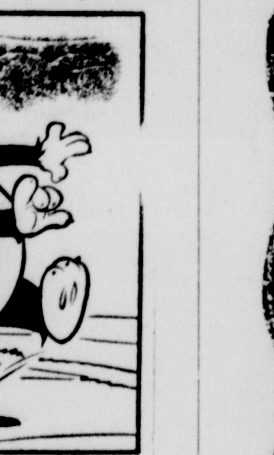

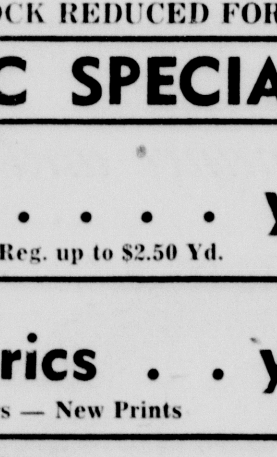

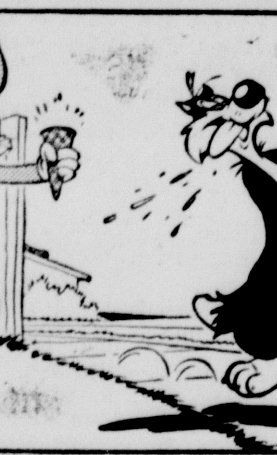

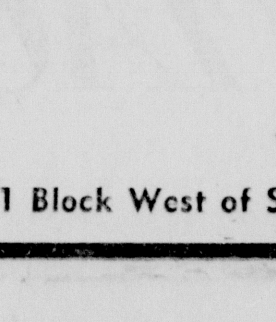

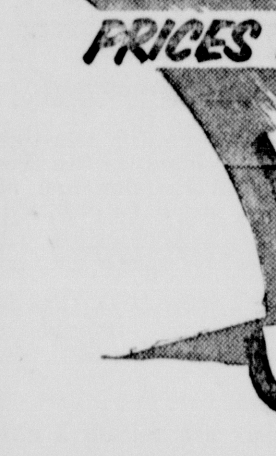

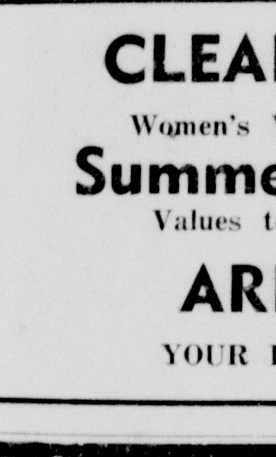

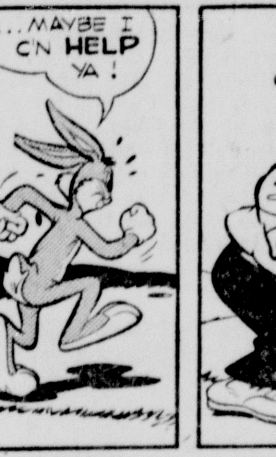

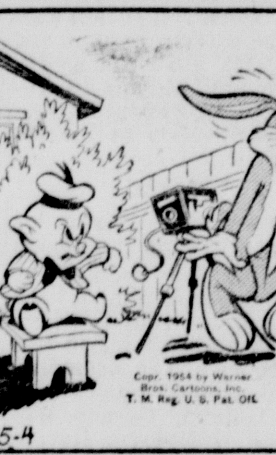

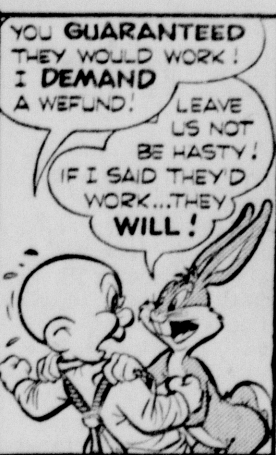

GUATEMALA CITY (UP) — Four thousand persons accused of Communist activities have been arrested throughout Guatemala since the overthrow of the regime of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman, a local police announcement reported. It said 800 of the suspects are being held in jails in Guatemala City.

Nixon Fails to Receive Promotion In Naval Reserve

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Navy apparently means what it says about promotions — even when the vice president is involved.

A Navy spokesman confirmed today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon has not been promoted from lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve because he failed to satisfy requirements for the higher rank.
